

Ink-blink
women

Clutch Control

An oversized clutch is one of the new seasons key accessories trends, and it is a look the A-list have been rocking for a few months now. We love Ashley Olsen's white crocodile skin Prada version but if you're a little short on the £5,000 price tag, then we highly recommend this faux lizard version by Wallis. Wear day or night for an up-to-the-minute spring look. Faux lizard trim clutch £20. Wallis at St David's Centre, Cardiff

First See on DVD... The Nanny

Comedy about life at the top, no sees from the bottom.

SCARLETT

LAURA

My oh Myla...

Quite possibly the sauciest lingerie label out there, Myla has a vast array of the type of underwear that makes women look and feel like goddesses and men turn into salivating wrecks. Ranging from the nice to the seriously naughty, the gorgeous selection of balconette bras, basques, suspenders, French knickers and thongs is like candy for the body. Sex & the City fans will adore the lace and freshwater

Ink-blink
men

A-LIST HOLDALL

If you want to 'weekend' like a celebrity, then Italian accessories label Bric's has the bag for you. Each and every nominee at last Sunday's Baftas's were provided with the Bric's Weekend Holdall in order to contain all of their gifts. Already a favourite with the likes of Nicole Kidman and Brad Pitt, the classic bags offer simplicity and star quality, minus the celebrity price tag – they will set you back just £165. Available at Harrods and Selfridges

Memory Masters

