A VOYAGE ROUND YOUR LUGGAGE

Travel accessories go vintage this winter

The spirit of vintage travel is enjoying a renaissance as designers reinvent everything, from old-fashioned trunks and hatboxes to hand-made luggage. Bally (bally.com) has created a stylish shoe trunk in monogrammed velvet with a sleek satin interior. Tumi (tumi.com) has picked up on the theme with a classic matt black case with plush cream interior that can accommodate 12 pairs of shoes while Liberty of London's latest collection includes a gorgeous blue patent-leather hatbox in the label's classic Ianthe print. ## Bring me back...

The Pavillon helmet

Taking his inspiration from Steve McQueen and Japanese motorcycle gangs, the French designer Jérôme Côté has produced his first motor helmet. Edged in chrome and made of ultralight carbon, it's been snapped up by Parisian It store Colette. After previously collaborating with motocross brand, JT Racing (as well as surviving six road accidents), Côté's designs aren't style over substance. Guaranteed to get your motor running. From £450. Colette, 213 rue Saint-Honoré, 75001, Paris (colette.fr, ateliersruby.com)

A league of gentlemen

Mayfair's stylish rejuvenation continues with Dunhill's luxurious new London emporium at the Duke of Westminster's former residence. Indulge in three floors of men's clothing, bespoke ranges, plus spa, barber and screening room. Bourdon House, 2 Davies Street, London W1 (dunhill.com)

The designer on her favourite shops around the world

Evolution in SoHo, New York, which is packed with insects, posters, models and skeletons, is a must. It's crammed with amazing curiosities and I love to treat myself to a framed butterfly each time I visit. 120 Spring Street, New York (+1 212 343 1114)

Lassco in London (right) has the best range of salvage and architectural antiques. I have bought all sorts from floorboards to taps. 30 Wandsworth Road, London (+44 (0)20 7394 2100)

Kiddyland is Tokyo's biggest toy store – six floors packed with everything from giant Murakami-style toys to irresistible gadgets. 6-1-9 Jingu-mae, Shibuya-ku, Tokyo (+03 3409 3431)
